Dear Parishioners,

I’m back! Thanks for your patience and understanding while I was away a good part of July. The first two weekends I was at the Steubenville Youth Conferences run by the Archdiocese at Missouri State (we helped 10,000 teens and chaperones experience Jesus’ love!). Last weekend I took a little R & R time. I’m refreshed and ready to go!

It saddened me to learn I would not be in town when the list of those priests who had abused children was released. I did hear from some of you how Frs. Teater and Auro were able to speak to the issue. I’m very grateful for their words and the compassion they have towards you and the victims of these crimes.

We have to pray, everyone. Pray for the victims, the abusers, and for ourselves. We have to pray for holy priests and leaders, that the Spirit might inspire them (us) to carry out the Lord’s work of salvation.

You might be wondering how you should go about this. I think all of us can take a hard look at our lives and consider, “How could I live my life differently, more rooted in the love of Jesus?” We might feel helpless as we hear of past leaders who have harmed us—and Church officials who have covered it up—but looking to Christ to see how we can help is, in fact, a powerful way to affect change.

I’ll be speaking more to this at the homilies this weekend, but I wanted you to have the chance to read this. I also want to apologize and let you all know how heavy this weighs on us. We’ve made great changes and strides in rooting out and preventing future crimes, but these cannot make up for the loss and atrocities we have faced.

Let’s keep praying, all. God bless you.
